

Why delegates should attend?

Delegates will learn how to improve the quality of food images using modern digital items such as mobile phones, iPads and Cameras, and discuss best equipment to use for different food scenarios. How best to use modern technology to get images that catch the eye of your customers.

Aims of the development day:

- Hands-on demonstration/imitation, video and visual presentation, showing how best to prepare, light, present, capture and process interesting, informative and professional images of food, produce, ingredients, etc.
- Understanding light, both quality and quantity. Natural light verses Artificial light.
- Using flash, camera formats, props, tips and tricks and the use of social media.
- Brief Intro to Chef Portraits and capturing shots of people in the foodie environment.

Who should attend?

Chefs, Instructors, Account Managers, Event Managers and anyone interested in quality photos of food. This Development Day is also ideal for anyone who wants to include good food images on their websites for customers, their own portfolio or CV.

What's Included?

Everything listed on the itinerary is included in the cost of the development day. This includes refreshments, lunch and the use of camera equipment. Please also bring along your own equipment that you would usually use, if you don't have your own equipment then bring your phone.
